Informed Consent for Physical Therapy Services & HIPAA Notice

For physical therapy services, there are a wide range of treatment types and evaluations that can be used when it comes to treating and managing an assortment of conditions. Services are provided to patients of all ages regardless of color, ethnicity, gender, national origin, creed, disability, sexual orientation, age, gender identity, and/or socio-economic condition. Physical therapy services can be used to treat various diseases, injuries, and disabilities by evaluation, diagnosis, prognosis, and intervention using rehabilitative procedures. Some of these procedures include mobilization, massage, exercises, and other physical means to aid the patient in achieving their individual, maximum potential within their able capabilities and to accelerate recovery and reduce the length of said functional recovery. All procedures will be explained to you before you are asked to perform them. Response to physical therapy techniques can vary from person to person, and as such, we are unable to predict any single individual's response to a specific procedure, modality, or exercise protocol. Farmingdale Physical Therapy West (and/or Lake Shore Physical Therapy, P.C.) cannot guarantee how you, as our patient, will react to a specific treatment type. We also cannot guarantee that the treatment we render will help resolve the condition that you are seeking treatment for. In extreme circumstances, there is a possibility that physical therapy treatment may result in aggravation of existing conditions and may cause further pain or injury. It is your right to refuse any part of your treatment plan we have outlined at any time before or during your treatment, should you feel any pain or discomfort, or any other unresolved concerns. As part of your rights, you are entitled to ask your physical therapist about the treatment they have planned based on your individual history, diagnosis, symptoms and examination results. It is your right to discuss the potential risks and benefits involved in your treatment. I, by signing this document, acknowledge that I have read this consent form and recognize the risks that are involved in physical therapy. By signing this document, I agree to fully cooperate and participate in all physical therapy procedures and will comply with my established Plan of Care. I authorize the release of my medical information to appropriate third parties.
